WESTERLY BANK PLANS APPROVED

Construction Will Begin as Soon as Material is Decided Upon

Present Bank Building to be Razed—Queer Auto Transaction at Local Garage—Annual Field Day of Rhode Island State-Grange.

The store in the Dixon house block, leased by the Industrial Trust company as temporary quarters during the construction of the new banking house, will be utilized for other commercial purposes until such time as the store at the corner of Main and Market streets is required for the use of the company. The plans for the new bank building have been fully approved and just as soon as the material for the exterior construction is definitely decided, specifications will be drawn and the preparation for the consideration of contractors. In due time the present bank building will be razed and no doubt the fine pressed brick will be removed with care and utilized in building elsewhere.

In these days when automobiles are changing ownership without cash remuneration, or other consideration, many engaged in the automobile business who are on the square, are like the Missourians, and want to be shown, sometimes, and are perhaps too often too easily convinced. That was sort of a queer transaction that happened in Westerly Wednesday. Soon after 6 o'clock in the morning a big Packard was driven to a local garage. It contained two young men and a young woman. They said they were en route from Providence to New York, but that the motor of the car was not working satisfactorily and that they would return to Providence by train, leaving the automobile at the garage. They gave orders for the car to be washed and took the garage charge slip with them, leaving word that the car be delivered to no one without the presentation of the garage slip.

In the afternoon two men, one white and the other black, came to the garage, the white man presenting the garage slip and said he was owner of the car. He stated that the car was stolen in Providence by an acquaintance, who evidently related, because he returned to Providence, told the alleged owner where the car was and gave up the garage slip as proof. These two men were given possession of the car and they immediately proceeded to New London. The car bore New York dealer's registry plates which were tied in place in a sort of temporary way. The men carried no baggage, not even a small grip, and neither had the appearance of being possessed of the wealth necessary to support a touring car of that type. Nor was the alleged owner of the car of the make-up that usually employs a chauffeur, black or white. As the car whizzed over the state line the white man was at the steering wheel and the black man was standing near the rear seat.

Westerly grange was represented at the annual field day of the Rhode Island State-Grange at Rocky Point Wednesday. After the shore dinner, Governor Beckman made an interesting address along the line of good citizenship. Dr. Thomas N. Carver of Harvard spoke on "The Organization of a Community." Mr. E. A. Peckham, of Upland, Mass., gave an interesting address on "The Welfare of the Home." Short talks were made by Worthy State Master J. A. Peckham and by other members prominent in the organization.

Local Luncheon.

In the month of July the Pawcatuck Seventh Day Baptist church contributed $75 to the denominational missionary society.

This is Irish day at Crescent Park, and members of the Irish-American club of Westerly will parade in Providence and enjoy the feast and field sports in the park.

Rev. Nathaniel Groton of Philadelphia, guest of his grandmother, Mrs. Horace Babcock, and who has been in New Hampshire for a week, returned to Westerly Wednesday evening.

At a meeting of the Pleasant View fire district, a session of the association to defer action in regard to fire protection until the next annual meeting to be held the first Tuesday in July, 1916.

When asked for news, Traffic Officer Ferguson laconically replied: "All the crooks but one have gone to Lincoln park for Elks' milk." Wonder if the officer perceived himself or the seeker for news?

The funeral of Walter P. Slaughter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Slaughter, was held from his late home in Pond street, Wednesday afternoon. The bearers were Harrison Johnson, Thomas Dodge, Earl Smith and Marvin Dodge.

Judge John W. Sweeney of Westerly, presiding at a session of the superior court in Providence Tuesday, denied the petition of Barney Botvin for a preliminary injunction to restrain the enforcement by the city of Providence and the board of police commissioners of the 1915 ordinance.

Mrs. Christopher Simmons fell down stairs at her home in Station street Tuesday afternoon and broke her right arm and dislocated her right shoulder. She was taken to Memorial hospital, where she was accompanied by Dr. Hillman, where the shoulder was put back in place and the fracture reduced.

Dr. Thomas B. Stillman, professor of analytical chemistry at the Stevens Institute of Technology, Hoboken, N. J., died Tuesday at his home in Jersey City. He was in his 35th year, and was known in Westerly and has relatives here.

MYSTIC

Death of Harris Brown—Funeral of Marion Haskell Prentice—Improvements at Post Office.

Harris Brown eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. F. Brown died on Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock at the tuberculosis sanatorium in Norwich, to which place he was taken two weeks ago. He was a young man, loved by all who knew him and a favorite with all the young people. He attended the Mystic Academy and after two years' work in the village he left for Providence, where he worked until last January, when his health gave out and he was forced to come home. His decline had been rapid. He is survived by his parents and one brother, Albertus Brown of this place.

FUNERAL

Marian Haskell Prentice.

The funeral of Marian Haskell Prentice, who died in Middletown on Sunday, was held from the home of his sisters, Misses Ruby and Helen Prentice on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. F. Earnshaw, pastor of the Congregational church conducted the services. Interment took place in Elm Grove cemetery.

Postoffice Improvements.

Postmaster Robert D. Bradley has been making decided improvements at West Mystic postoffice for the convenience of the patrons. By the addition of an adjoining room the door space has been doubled, which will allow of greater facility in dispatching and distributing the mails. An entire new outfit of call and lock boxes has been installed together with a new stamp and a new postal order window. The lock boxes are the latest design, keyless and fireproof, and the new outfit is both to the postoffice employees and the office patrons. Carpenters have been at work several days on the new stretch beginning a little to the east of Williams corner. The construction to exceed the speed limit is great along this stretch. The construction company has begun laying cement for the new stretch beginning a little to the east of Williams corner. Considerable progress is being made daily. On account of so much rain falling as soon as the cement is laid it has been hard work for it to set.

STONINGTON

Death of Miss Nancy Anna Chesborough—Martial Music Missed in Stonington Fire Parade—Notes.

After a sickness of three years' duration, Miss Nancy Anna Chesborough, daughter of the late Gideon Perry and Ann Adella Lasher Chesborough, died Tuesday night at her home in Williams street, in the Pawcatuck section of the town of Stonington. Miss Chesborough was born in Groton, Conn., Nov. 23, 1866, but spent the greater part of her life in Pawcatuck. She is survived by a brother, Gideon Perry, and three sisters, Mrs. Eugene L. Palmer and Misses Edna and Grace Louise Chesborough.

Martial Music Missed.

To the uninitiated there is much curiosity to know just why the Chesboro Pile and Drum corps, which has played and marched in the parades of the Stonington fire department ever since the formation of the drum beaters and fire blowers, did not take part in the parade of last Saturday afternoon. No one in the borough seems incompetent or unwilling to explain. Some say that it is because some of the members had arranged to attend a picnic, others that the corps were not asked to parade until Friday, and others that members preferred to march in the uniform of firemen. On the other hand, it is set up that members of the corps were at the fire district meeting when it was voted to engage the corps for the parade, that every member of the corps knew it was the custom for them to play and march in the parade for pay, and that the dis-
